Airplane 'Buzzed' By Reds

Second Incident Sharpens Crisis

BERLIN (AP) — The East-West dispute over air access to isolated Berlin sharpened Tuesday with disclosure that Soviet jet fighters have buzzed a second U. S. Air Force transport plane.

A U. S. Embassy spokesman in Bonn said that on April 1 two Soviet MIGs conducted very dangerous maneuvers in harassing a big propeller-driven cargo plane in one of the three air corridors linking Berlin with West Germany. The Soviet fighters flew within 100 feet of the CW transport and flew over it and under it because it was flying at an altitude of 12,000 feet in defiance of Moscow's warning that Western planes must stay below 10,000 feet.

The United States and Soviet representatives at the four-power safety center in Berlin, which controls flights in the corridors, swapped oral protests after the incident, the embassy disclosed. Each side accused the other of dangerous air tactics.

The U. S. State Department said in Washington the American representative again asked the Soviets to stop harassment of planes

Lower Neck Area Treated; Herter Handed Talks Task

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors reported Tuesday that recent neck pains developed by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may be due to a new outbreak of cancer.

Some medical authorities said this virtually ruled out the chance that he would ever return to full time direction of the nation's foreign policy.

Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter has already been named as a substitute for Dulles at diplomatic talks with the British, French and German foreign ministers opening in Paris April 23.

Dulles has been clinging to the hope that he might fight back from cancer which was found in February in his abdominal region, hoped to attend the follow-up Four meeting in Geneva May 23.

A top team of specialists will begin another examination at Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday and the State Department reported afterward.

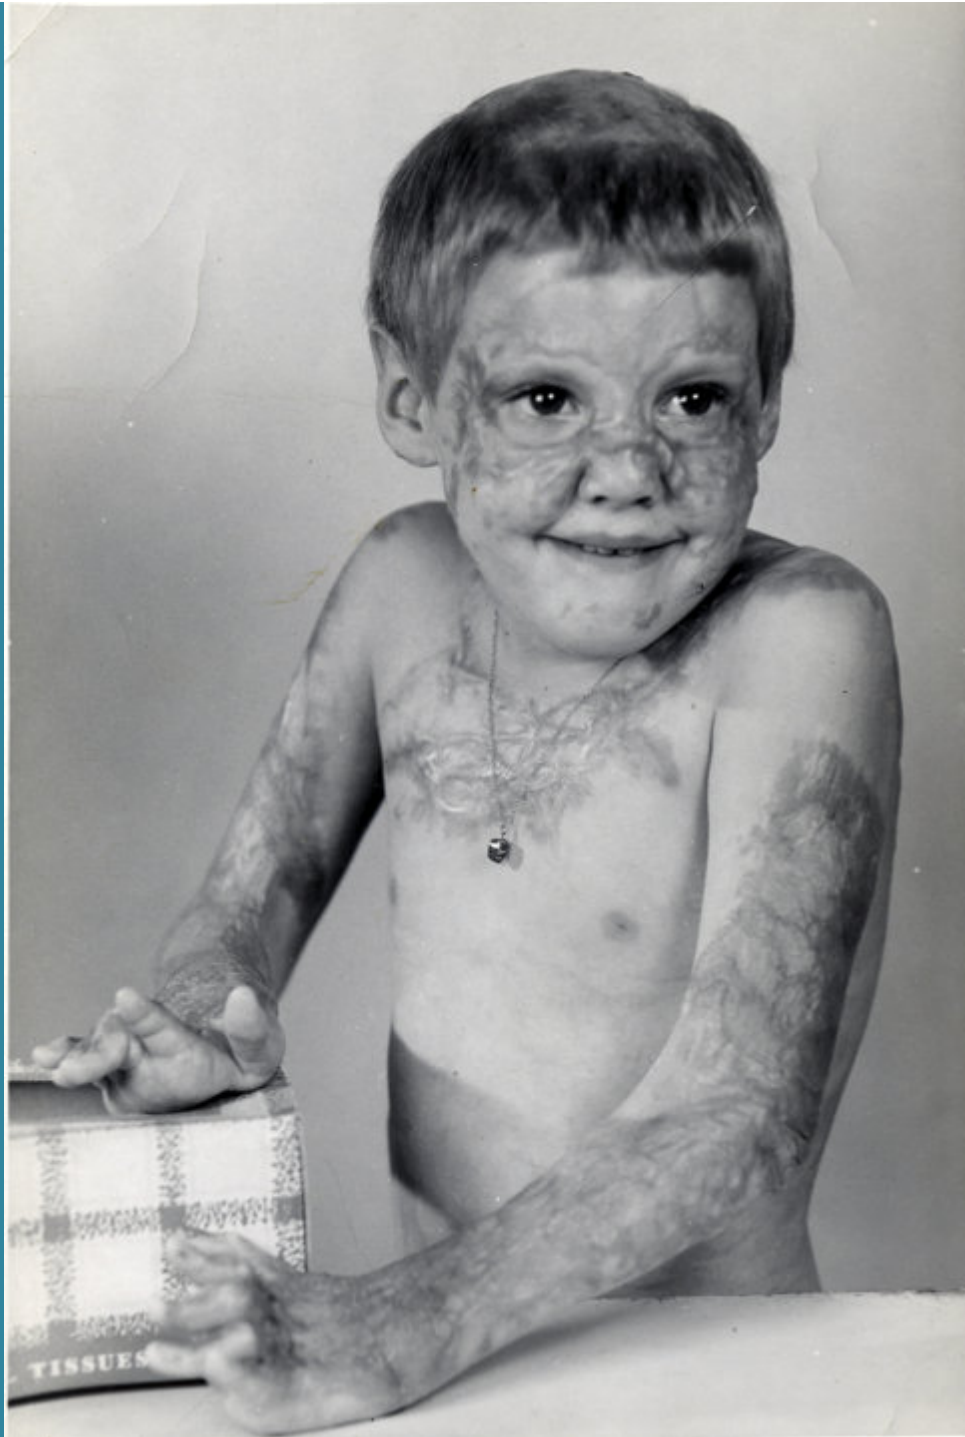

"During the past several weeks Secretary Dulles has expressed increasing discomfort in the lower neck.

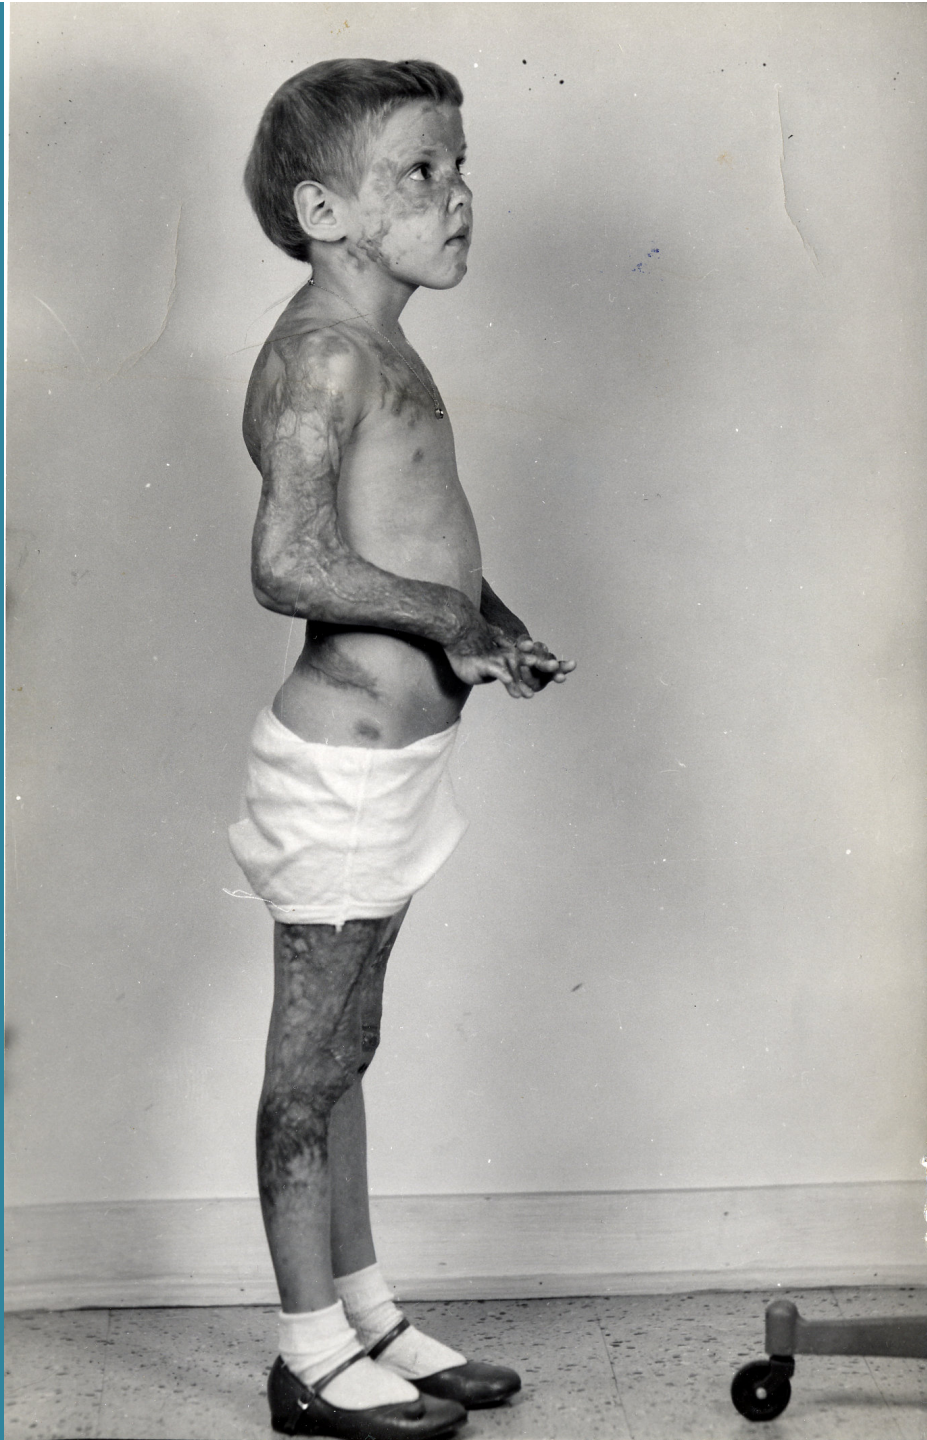

"X-ray studies suggest the possibility that his discomfort may be attributable to the presence of a malignant tumor in the cervical vertebrae. Extensive
